Welcome to our Parent Reading Workshop

Our aims for today –

Look at what the research says about reading and its importance

Understand the importance of early reading and phonics

Understand the importance of fluency and how you can build this at home

Have a clear understanding of comprehension

Give hints and tips of how to get your child reading at home

The survey of 71,400 children and young people by the National Literacy Trust early in 2023 has revealed that fewer than one in three children (28%) aged eight to 18 read daily for enjoyment. While this remains the same as for 2022, the figure stood at 38% when the survey began in 2005, marking a 26% fall in those who read daily.

Why is there a decline in reading for pleasure?

- Games and online distractions
- Rise in social media
- Find books boring
- Lack of time
- Not being read to from an early age by adults (at home and school)
- Seeing reading as a process for learning rather a pleasure activity
 - 'Reading for pleasure' is being confused with 'literacy' by many parents at home who commonly don't realise that the more it's pushed as a school subject, the less likely a child is to choose to do it. In the school environment, the national curriculum focuses on reading skills above reading pleasure. However, when pleasure drives reading, children achieve more.

Benefits of reading for pleasure:

- There is a growing body of evidence which illustrates the importance of reading for pleasure for both educational purposes as well as personal development (cited in Clark and Rumbold, 2006).
- Evidence suggests that there is a positive relationship between reading frequency, reading enjoyment and attainment (Clark 2011; Clark and Douglas 2011).
- Reading enjoyment has been reported as more important for children's educational success than their family's socio-economic status (OECD, 2002).
- There is a positive link between positive attitudes towards reading and scoring well on reading assessments (Twist et al, 2007).
- Regularly reading stories or novels outside of school is associated with higher scores in reading assessments (PIRLS, 2006; PISA, 2009).
- International evidence supports these findings; US research reports that independent reading is the best predictor of reading achievement (Anderson, Wilson and Fielding, 1988).
- Evidence suggests that reading for pleasure is an activity that has emotional and social consequences (Clark and Rumbold, 2006).
- Other benefits to reading for pleasure include: text comprehension and grammar, positive reading attitudes, pleasure in reading in later life, increased general knowledge (Clark and Rumbold, 2006).

A growing number of studies show that promoting reading can have a major impact on children and adults and their future. Upon reviewing the research literature, Clark and Rumbold (2006) identify several main areas of the benefits to reading for pleasure:

- Reading attainment and writing ability;
- Text comprehension and grammar;
- Breadth of vocabulary;
- Positive reading attitudes;
- Greater self-confidence as a reader;
- Pleasure in reading in later life;
- General knowledge;
- A better understanding of other cultures;
- Community participation; and
- A greater insight into human nature and decision-making.

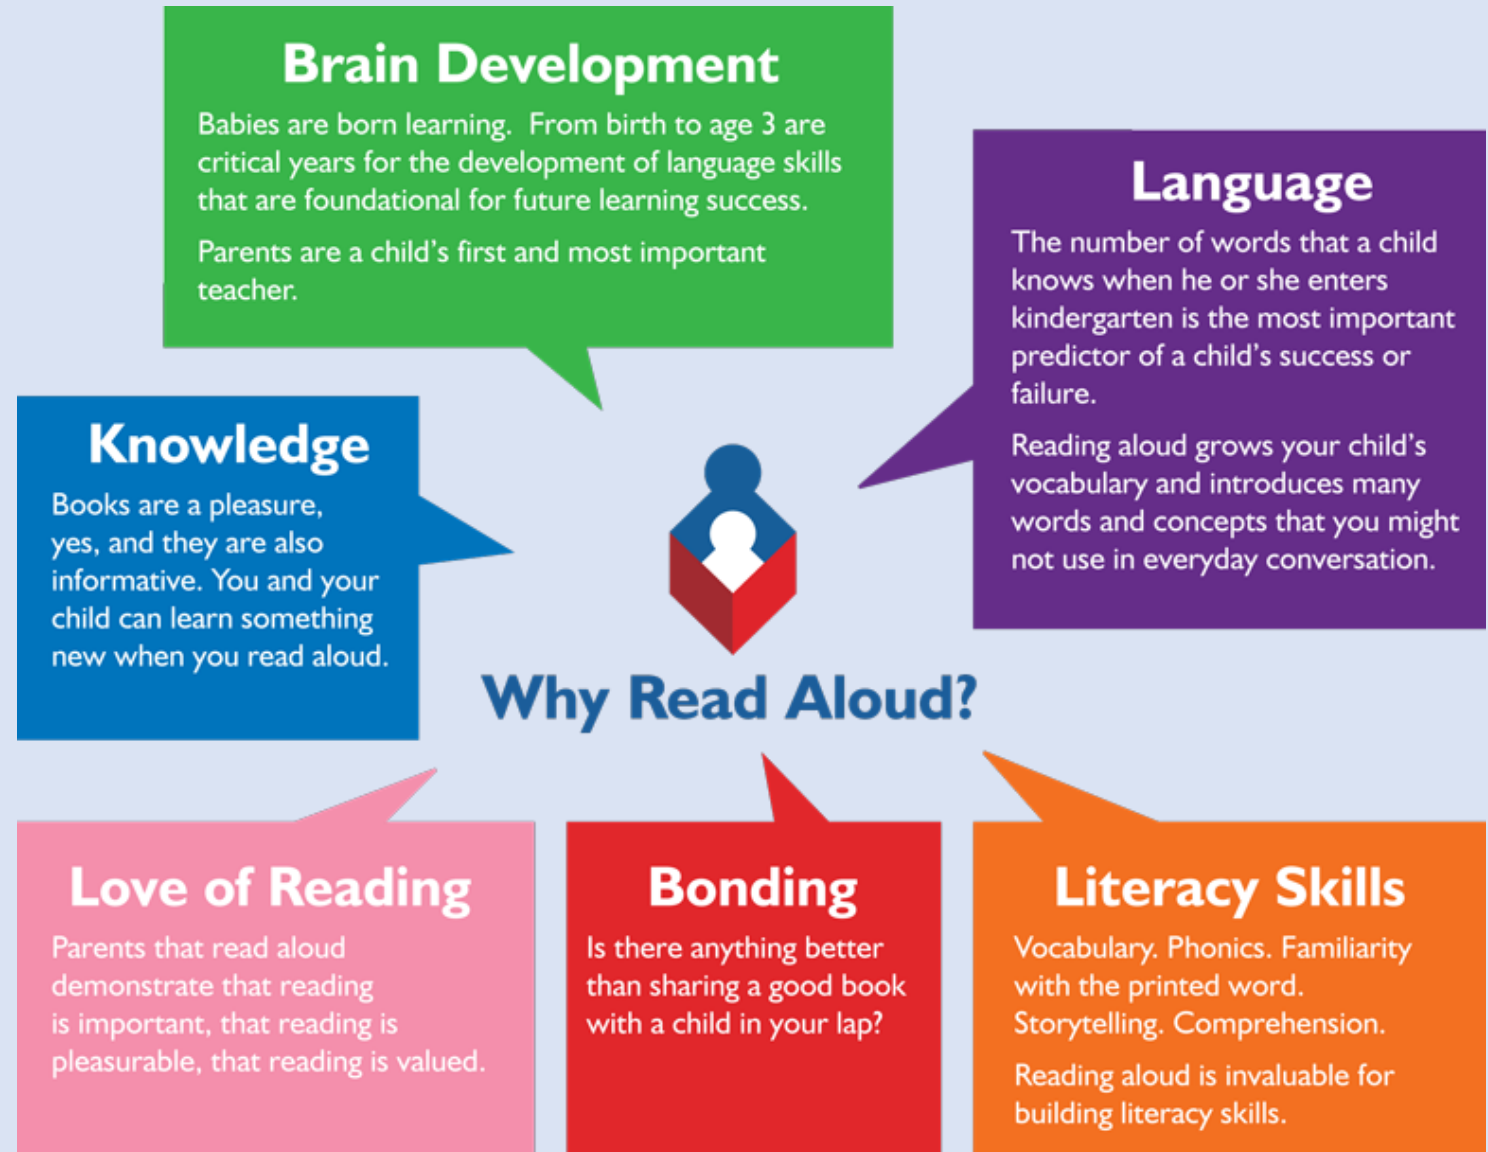

Impact of reading

Amount of reading	20 mins	5 mins	1 min

Reading from an early age and securing phonics

- Reading from an early age is important as research shows that if children are not secure and fluent readers by Year 2, it is very difficult to then develop a love of reading going forward.
- In order to get children fluent in reading, their phonic knowledge must be embedded within EYFS and KS1.
- Read to children from day zero!

What is fluency and why is it important?

- For a child to be fluent, phonic knowledge is important.
- When a child is fluent, we can focus on understanding and comprehension.
- When comprehension is secure, the child will enjoy what they read.
- Secure phonics and fluency all reduce cognitive load.

Phonics to fluent readers

- ❖ Usually around year 2 the children should transition from becoming readers that need to decode (segment and blend words) to becoming fluent readers.
- ❖ Children need to see and read words at least seven times before the word transitions from the front of the brain as parts to the back of the brain as a complete word. This is when fluency begins. To see this word many times they need to have access to books and read regularly.
- ❖ Once children become fluent, they can read for meaning and understand more of what they are reading as they are not focusing on sounding the word out.

Ways you can help to build fluency at home...

1. Read and follow – the adult reads the text and the child follows along with their finger. This helps the child with word recognition and models to them how they should read with fluency.
2. My turn, your turn – take turns reading a page or a paragraph. Here you are modelling how to read with fluency, flow and expression.
3. Echo Reading – as you read, the child copies. It is important here to pace yourself and read at a rate that your child can keep up with.
4. Choral Reading – Reading together in unison.
5. Encourage children to read familiar words as a whole unit. Remind them that they do not have to sound out.

What is comprehension?

- This refers to the understanding of a text.
- There are cases of where children are able to read thanks to secure phonics knowledge and the ability to decode but do not understand what they have read.

COMPREHENSION SKILLS

DEFINITION

Comprehension skills are cognitive capabilities that allow individuals to process and understand written or spoken information. They encompass a range of abilities, from identifying main ideas and supporting details to making inferences and drawing conclusions. Mastery of these skills is essential for effective reading, listening, and overall communication.

EXAMPLES

- Summarizing
- Paraphrasing
- Drawing Conclusions
- Sequencing Events
- Ranking Information
- Recognizing Author Purpose
- Interpreting Figurative Language
- Identifying Cause and Effect

What you can do to help develop comprehension...

- Comprehension of the world will develop comprehension in reading...
- Ways you can develop comprehension –
- Talking a lot at home... about everything
- Develop cultural capital by going out (this does not have to cost money)
- Reading together and discussing books together
- Why do you like this book?
- What do you think will happen next?
- What do you think about this character?

That's something lacking in a lot of modern-day families – just talking. It's almost a lost art form.

Important Reading Skills

Vocabulary

Interpreting and deciphering the meaning of words unknown based on the context they are written.

Beowulf was incensed by Grendel's attack and vowed revenge.

We may not know the meaning of the word 'incensed' here but we can guess it means 'angered'. How have I arrived at this conclusion?

Inference

Is an interpretation that goes beyond the literal information given and relies on the evidence within the text as well as background knowledge.

The police find a threatening letter addressed to the victim.

We could infer that someone didn't like that person.

Predict

What has or what will happen based on information stated or inferred

Mr Ali woke up with a terrible headache and severe cough. He picked up his mobile and began to dial.

Who do you think Mr Ali is going to call? Why?

Retrieve

Retrieval of information is often the starting point for discussing a text. This means picking the exact (spelling and punctuation too) information out of the text that they have just read. E.g.

What was the character's name?

Summary

Summarise main ideas from more than one paragraph.

The Five Strands

- TIMELINES Using timelines as a visual tool for students to record 5 key events from the text, helping them to develop a chronological understanding.
- HASHTAGS/ SIX WORD SUMMARY Summarising what has been read using hashtags. This approach encourages students to create short, 6-word or less summaries with a focus on wordplay, and a references to popular sayings or songs.

The Five Strands

- EMOJIS/ EMOTIONS Inferring characters' emotions using emojis and providing evidence from the text to justify their inferences. This strategy promotes emotional intelligence and self-expression while honing the skill of identifying feelings in the text.
- MOST IMPORTANT ELEMENTS Identifying the top 5 significant events or themes from the text. This method sparks engaging discussions among students, as they compare similarities and differences in their choices, leading to a shared reading experience.
- IMPRESSION/ EVIDENCE Summarising impressions of chunks of text. Students support their answers with evidence from the reading material.

Questions you can ask at home...

- Find a word or phrase which shows/suggests that.....

Infer

Make and justify inferences using evidence from the text.

Example questions

- Find and copy a group of words which show that...
- How do these words make the reader feel? How does this paragraph suggest this?
- How do the descriptions of show that they are
- How can you tell that.....
- What impression of do you get from these paragraphs?

Example questions

- From the cover what do you think this text is going to be about?
- What is happening now? What happened before this? What will happen after?
- What does this paragraph suggest will happen next? What makes you think this?
- Do you think the choice of setting will influence how the plot develops?
- Do you think... will happen? Yes, no or maybe? Explain your answer using evidence from the text.

Explain

- Explain how content is related and contributes to the meaning as a whole.
- Explain how meaning is enhanced through choice of language.
- Explain the themes and patterns that develop across the text.
- Explain how information contributes to the overall experience.

Example questions

- Why is the text arranged in this way?
- What structures has the author used?
- What is the purpose of this text feature?
- Is the use of effective?
- The mood of the character changes throughout the text. Find and copy the phrases which show this.
- What is the author's point of view?
- What affect does have on the audience?
- How does the author engage the reader here?
- Which words and phrases did effectively?
- Which section was the most interesting/exciting part?
- How are these sections linked?

Retrieve

Retrieve and record information and identify key details from fiction and non-fiction.

Example questions

- How would you describe this story/text? What genre is it? How do you know?
- How did...?
- How often...?
- Who had...? Who is...? Who did....?
- What happened to...?
- What does.... do?
- How is
- What can you learn from from this section?
- Give one example of.....
- The story is told from whose perspective?

Summarise

Summarise the main ideas from more than one paragraph

Example questions

- Can you number these events 1-5 in the order that they happened?
- What happened after
- What was the first thing that happened in the story?
- Can you summarise in a sentence the opening/middle/end of the story?
- In what order do these chapter headings come in the story?

How to encourage independent reading at home

- Having books that the child owns
- Using the library to help build variety
- Exposing children to texts beyond novel. E.g. comics, magazines, non-fiction books
- Taking control of screens – reading first and then screentime
- Show that you love reading... even if you have to fake it
- Give children books that matter to them (BAME authors and characters, texts that excite them)
- Reward reading through extrinsic and intrinsic motivators

Strategies to improve independent reading

- Having access to resources and having books of their own has an impact on children's attainment. There is a positive relationship between the estimated number of books in the home and attainment (Clark 2011). Children who have books of their own enjoy reading more and read more frequently (Clark and Poulton 2011).
- An important factor in developing reading for pleasure is choice; choice and interest are highly related (Schraw et al, 1998; Clark and Phythian-Sence, 2008)
- Literacy-targeted rewards, such as books or book vouchers have been found to be more effective in developing reading motivation than rewards that are unrelated to the activity (Clark and Rumbold, 2006).
- Parents and the home environment are essential to the early teaching of reading and fostering a love of reading; children are more likely to continue to be readers in homes where books and reading are valued (Clark and Rumbold, 2006).
- Reading for pleasure is strongly influenced by relationships between teachers and children, and children and families (Cremin et al, 2009).
